

FRIDAY DECEMBER 16, 1743.

Naples, November 26.

On the 17th of this Month there was grand Gala at Court, on account of it being the Anniversary of the Birth-day of the Infanta, Sister to his Majesty, who enters on the 15th Year of her Age. On the 19th their Majesties were dined at Portici, in order to celebrate the Feast of St. Elizabeth, being the Name-day of the Queen of Spain; and the Day before Yesterday there was again grand Gala on the Anniversary of her Majesty's Birth-day, who then enter'd on the 10th Year of her Age. Yesterday we had certain Information that Eight British Men of War were seen in the Channel of Malta, which gives us inexpressible Uneasiness; because it was hoped, that on his Majesty's positively declaring he would not act offensively, in Breach of his Neutrality, we should have been free from these Sort of Visits. Some Advices from Reggio have contributed to give the Court still greater Uneasiness, since it appears from them, that in the very last Week there died there 95 Persons, most of them of the Plague; and 135 were sent to the Hospitals, most of them of the same Distemper.

Bologna, December 3. We are informed, that Cardinal Querini, who arrived lately from Rome at Fano, had been conducted from thence, under an Escort of Dragoons, to the Head Quarters of General Count de Gages, which had given his Eminence very great Offence. The Disputes between the Duke de Modena and that General increase daily, notwithstanding all the Pains that is taken to keep them Friends. This is attributed by some to the Cause, by others to another; but the Truth seems to be, that as the Duke of Modena has hitherto, by his Interest, preserved the Army from sinking in its Numbers, and kept the Soldiers from perishing for Want, which has a very unhappy Effect upon the Italians, and the Army under great and unnecessary Difficulties, the Duke's principal Confidant is General Mariani, who sits with him in all Councils of War, and who has a very strong Party among the General Officers.

Milan, December 4. As it is impossible for the Ecclesiastical State to support both Armies, we are obliged to send our great Quantities of Meal and Oats from hence. The King of Sardinia having signified to the Court of Vienna his Desire of being put into immediate Possession of the Places yielded to him by the Treaty of Worms, the Court immediately consented thereto, and sent Directions, together with proper Authorities, to General Wir and the Marquis d'Erba, to make the Confignation of the Places, yielded by that Treaty, to the Marquis de Riverola, who is appointed by the King of Sardinia to take possession of them.

Berlin, December 10. The Negotiations carried on at the Court proceed with greater Vigour than ever; but, at the same time, the true End and Design of them is not to be discovered, so much Secrecy is preserved on all Hands. One Thing, indeed, is much taken Notice of, which is the Conduct pursued by the Earl of Hyndford, since his Return from Hanover. He frequents the Court as much as ever, and confers rather more frequently with the Ministers; but we fancy, that his Softness and Complaisance is quite worn off, and that he directs himself in shorter Periods, and in a more emphatic Style than formerly. It is likewise observed, that instead of seeing each other once a Fortnight, or thrice a Month, M. Buloz, the Saxon Minister, and the Earl, are scarce ever asunder. M. Klinegraf, his Majesty's Minister to the Imperial Court, has had every Day, since his Return from Frankfort, a private Audience of his Majesty; which has sometimes lasted three, and always four Hours; from whence we conclude, that some Matter of great Importance is on the Carpet between the two Courts, which, it is believed, will very speedily be to be a Secret.

Frankfort, December 16. The Day after To-morrow the Emperor proposes to give the Cap to Cardinal Doria, the Church of St. Bartholomew; and the 23d is fix'd for the Departure of his Eminency for Italy. The Letter publish'd from the King of Prussia, is full of very fine Passages, which give great Satisfaction to this Court; and we count upon it as a Thing certain, that his Majesty's Interest, an Imperial Army will be speedily assembled, in order to compel the Enemies to submit to reasonable Terms; but it is at the same Time certain, that the Court of Dresden is so far from entering into our Views, that there is the utmost Reason to believe, she has concerted Private Measures with the Court of Vienna.

Paris, December 18. We are moving Heaven and Earth here, in order to raise Money for the next Campaign; and, what must surprize all the World, our Expences run higher than they did last War, when we fought for no less a Prize than Spain and the Indies. The Reason of M. de Fenelon's being recalled, is now no longer a Secret. Our Court is determined to oblige the States to declare themselves, and, in Consequence of this Resolution, have made Choice of the properest Minister in the World to make such a Declaration; in short, M. de Chavigny has Orders to go from Frankfort to the Hague, to demand a Categorical Answer, as to the Part the States design to take, in case the War becomes general; and he has, on the other hand, Directions to acquaint them with the Dispositions of this Court.
